This project is aimed at promoting the walking village concept for Hahei. A pedestrian walkway is to be provided from the Hahei Visitor Car Park, through to Hahei Beach and Cathedral Cove Walkway via Kotare Reserve and Hahei Beach Road.

The purpose of this path is to create an alternative attractive alternative walking route for visitors and the community through the village that does not rely as much on streets, but takes walkers through Kotare Reserve. The intent is to help improve safety, encourage people to walk rather than drive and provide an attractive visitor experience.

The majority of the walkway will be Hoggin Path (hoggin is a mixture of clay, gravel and sand and was used on the Whitianga Buffalo Beach waterfront), some wet and boggy areas will be traversed with coloured concrete and boardwalk.

Once on Hahei Beach Road, walkers will use the existing footpath, and cross the road at the existing zebra crossing. We would like your feedback specifically on how best to treat the walkway for the last 250m to the beach. Given the high numbers of vehicles parking on the berm, there is an opportunity to make this area safer by separating walkers from vehicles with a line of bollards and possibly rock gardens at key points. This would still provide parallel parking for vehicles, but also prioritise pedestrian safety. The intent would be to keep this area grassed.

Please see reverse for walkway route.
